Qualitative

What are the strengths of this instructor? -

- Ability to explain complex topics in several different ways.
- His ways of connecting with students and provide a understanding feedback.
- this instructor answered every question someone had and made sure that everyone knew what was going on before continuing with new content. he gave good examples and a clear description of the topics given.
- A person who love what he teaching.
- He's adept at explaining complex philosophical matters for entry level students, is patient with anyone who needs help, and is generally a very kind professor.
- Dr. G is a well spoken, professional instructor who balances compassion and expectation for his students well. He keeps the class engaged, and is inclusive to all students. This was a challenging course, but he kept discussions interesting.

What are the areas for improvement for this instructor? -

- Only an observation. He might have just been letting students discuss among each other (Ethics has a lot of debates so this is good), but he seemed a little timid in bringing the discussions back on track.
- The only thing I think he could improve on is his assertiveness. There were a few moments in the class where he was too passive and would let students blurt out and talk over him.
- His explanation on thing.
- I have no complaints against this professor.
- none.
- Talk a little faster so student's don't loose focus as easily.

What are the strengths of this course? -

- Covers lots of different ethical theories that truly make one think about how they move throughout the world.
- Helps me understand people's reasons to different opinions.
- it gives you a sense of the world around you a new perspective and the course was easy to follow and gave a lot of information.
- Learn different theory of morality
- Learning the basics of ethical theory can help us understand our own and others actions and behaviors.
- The use of the textbook was extremely well thought out and curated so well for this class. While we didn't use the whole textbook (never really expected anyway) every topic was unique and applied well, broadly speaking to this class's topic. Homework assignments were also well developed and challenging. I also really enjoyed the ability to majority vote for the topic of the final, it made it possible to write about something I was genuinely interested in and I believe I was able to reflect that in my research for that project.

What are the areas for improvement for this course? -

- I thought we spent quite a bit of time on the different forms of consequentialism/utilitarianism which didn't leave us as much time with say prima facie duties or Kantianism. Kant is one of the only names from the course that I had even heard of before taking it and his theories are pretty popular, I thought just a bit more time could've gone into it.
- Nothing
- I do not have any complaints in this course.
- none.

Qualitative

What are the strengths of this instructor? -

- This instructor is very good at simplifying very complex topics and making them easy to understand for students who are unfamiliar with the course material.
- leading the class, explanation, giving out examples.
- I like how he handles open class discussions, while allowing people to express their opinions.
- He is fun to talk to, and interacts with his students a lot. He's a good listener, and gives everyone the right to their own opinions.
- Good feedback, and explained the work very well.

What are the areas for improvement for this instructor? -

- Didn't see any need for improvement for this instructor
- None.
- None that I can think of.
- Nothing
- An intuitive and updated Moodle page, possibly with resources, would make managing course work much easier.

What are the strengths of this course? -

- Interesting course material and a very effective introduction to philosophical thinking without being too in depth and putting students in over their head.
- allow the student to think about everything in their life.
- This course does a good job of breaking down important views of most of the topics such as religion and free will.
- It's a good stress reliever for some students who have problems in other courses. Talking in his class makes me feel like I can relax.
- Video and slides explanation

What are the areas for improvement for this course? -

- None.
- None.
- Maybe allowing more time for other topics that people may want to discuss or go over briefly.
- this course is good!
- More discussion and interaction within the class might help keep students involved and keep focus

What are the strengths of this instructor? -

- Helping you understand the subject by explaining and making things easier.
- Very Organized , good grading time, very understand but still firm.
- Dr. Goodine is great instructor. He's approachable and clearly cares about his students. He did a really good job getting us through different topics and helping us understand the material. He gave great feedback on our papers and helped us navigate complicated topics during in-class discussions. I thoroughly enjoyed this class and Dr. Goodine made me want to take more philosophy courses if I have the opportunity down the road.

What are the areas for improvement for this instructor? -

- Not approaching the class as if we are philosophy majors.

What are the strengths of this course? -

- Helping understand moral duties
- Using this course as a way to better understand the moral community.
- It's well structured and allowing us to vote on topics we'd like to explore during the last couple weeks was a nice touch.

Qualitative

What are the strengths of this instructor? -
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• he is good</li> <li>• He is very good with feed back over email</li> <li>• Gets to the point.</li> <li>• My instructor has a lot of good strengths. He gives us good positive vibes when it comes to transferring to another college and what to major in and what to do right whenever you're still figuring out what to do. He also helped me out for UNCG.</li> <li>• Teaching content in a way students can understand</li> </ul>

What are the areas for improvement for this instructor? -

- I don't know
- The instructor has shown a lot of improvement and he shows us that we can succeed to any college or anything that we can major in. He also said that even when we are done with his class, we can still email for help which he doesn't mind at all.
- Not reading directly off the slides.
- Less work load
- he is good

What are the strengths of this course? -

- he is good
- it is very straight forward
- It was easy.
- The strengths for this course is to keep staying ahead and knowing the grades and academic stuff for your transfer college because it's important to read the book and listen to the instructor.
- Helped me understand more about coped he curriculum and transfer

What are the areas for improvement for this course? -

- I don't know
- The improvement for this course is to always ask questions so that in the future you can know what to do. Other than that, everything else that your instructor has taught you, you should know what to do and not be shy asking questions.
- Make it more interesting.
- Less time consuming
- none
